d) Boundary commission proposal for Hull

In March, Hull City Council decided to establish a commission to look into what it sees as its restricted administrative boundaries and determine potential solutions – including a boundary extension.

In response to this, East Riding of Yorkshire Council resolved unanimously to strongly resist any attempts by Hull City Council to expand its boundary into the East Riding and to hold a referendum this September in the 12 parishes most likely to be affected by any boundary change.

East Riding residents who don't live in the 12 parishes could still be affected by the proposals. They can have their say on the issue by completing and returning a consultation form that will be published in September's edition of Your East Riding.

Hull City Council's commission was set up without prior discussion or consultation with East Riding of Yorkshire Council, or in relation to the four options the commission has been asked to look into. The options are:

· extend the city council's boundaries to include the wider 30-minute Hull-travel-to-work area (which would include Withernsea, Hornsea, Beverley, Market Weighton and Brough)

· create a single authority combining Hull and East Riding councils
· extend the city's boundaries to include surrounding towns and villages in the East Riding
· keep the two existing councils but combine functions such as planning, tourism, economic regeneration and general administration.

No town or parish councils exist in the city of Hull, unlike the East Riding which is fully parished.

East Riding of Yorkshire Council's referendum will provide an opportunity for voters in the 12 parishes to have a say on their future and to influence future decision-making processes – therefore it is very important that people exercise their vote in the referendum. The parishes involved in the referendum are Anlaby with Anlaby Common, Bilton, Cottingham, Elloughton-cum-Brough, Hedon, Hessle, Kirk Ella, North Ferriby, Preston, Swanland, Welton and Willerby.

Boundary referendum details

The referendum in the 12 parishes will be a postal vote, with ballot papers being sent to the home addresses of eligible voters from Monday 8 September. The ballot papers need to be returned in pre-paid envelopes or handed in to council customer service centres, leisure centres or libraries in the listed parishes by Friday, 26 September. The count will take place on Monday, 29 September with the results announced shortly after.

There will be two questions on the ballot papers. The first will ask whether electors think the boundaries of Hull City Council should be extended to include the 12 parishes. The second question will ask whether voters think Hull City Council should be allowed to build upon land it owns in the green open spaces separating Hull and the towns and villages in the East Riding.

East Riding of Yorkshire Council has sought for many years to protect the green open spaces from being built upon but this is now being opposed by Hull City Council which wants to develop land it owns in these areas.

The Clerk is to put a note in the notice board and also in the parish newsletter to make parishioners aware.

Complaints have been made of vehicles speeding at various places in the village including Sandhill Lane and Main Street. The Clerk is to contact ERYC to request that golden rivers are used to capture information and deal with the speeding problems. It was agreed that the Clerk could also request that ERYC investigate the possibility of speed reactive signage being used in the village.
